The Consultancy Group

The Group is one of the Royal Society of Chemistry's many Interest Groups. The Interest Groups are memberdriven groups which exist to benefit RSC members, and the wider chemical science community, in line with the RSCs strategy and charter.

The Group provides a forum for RSC members who are consultants. The Group arranges meetings and workshops to provide networking opportunities and training in aspects of setting up and running a consultancy business.

Consultancy Valuing the Service When undertaking work as a consultant one of the

When undertaking work as a consultant one of the most important issues to consider is how to value the services being offered. This is no different to the supply of any other service whereby time is the actual requiring a lawyer than a chemical consultant unless evidence is required to be given in a legal setting.

The question is therefore how we rectify this disconnect between the value we place on our services and the fee that the client is expected to pay. Unfortunately, there is no easy answer. The purpose of this article is to highlight and raise the profile of the issue and to ensure that technical consultants embrace
